INVESTMENT STORY

The problem

Carbon projects are judged on their methodology, and most reach investors before the methodology has been written down.

Our solution

The methodology and its validation sit in the data room with the land schedule, and the memorandum was written from them.

Our advantage

The land position is documented and the monitoring plots are established.

The market

Buyers of nature-based credits and the funds behind them look for documented additionality before price.

Why it works

The evidence exists before the offer is made.
